Haka events

Join our genuine Maori Masters in the traditional Haka. For centuries, the Haka has been used to unite people to face their challenges head-on with a positive mental attitude. It is still as powerful today as it has ever been and provides the opportunity for your team to grow stronger, together. We are one of only two UK companies that have authentication from tribal elders in New Zealand, to use the Haka for team building and corporate entertainment.

Why choose the Haka as a team activity?

The Haka is surprising, entertaining, motivating, uniting...and different. The Haka is a traditional, cultural gem, which contains everything needed for a compelling team activity.

The Haka is ideal as a team building activity or corporate entertainment event, because:

- no set up is needed
- there is no equipment to dismantle
- there is no limit to numbers
- it's great fun, and EVERYONE can join in
- there are powerful business and personal messages.

Haka is the tribal ritual dance performed by the Maori people of Aotearoa, more commonly known as New Zealand. It is used to bring people together to: prepare for conflict, share success, link with tribal ancestors, maintain respect and continue knowledge from the past to the future.

There are many types of Haka used for a variety of tribal occasions. The Ka Mate Haka (which we focus on in Creative Team Events) is classified as a Haka Taparahi, which is a ceremonial Haka. The Ka Mate Haka was composed by a chief named Te Rauparaha in the 1820s. Te Rauparaha was the High Chief of the Ngati Toa. The Ka Mate Haka is the story of a leader overcoming a new and life-changing predicament. Forced to trust and undergo a significant change in environment, he rises victorious by being open to new ideas and being adaptable.

The Haka is not just a male activity and is perfectly suited to a mixed audience. In fact, the role of women in performing the Haka is regarded as sacred and acts as a vital tribe defence.

This traditional and ancient Maori tribal ritual acts as a powerful group activity, whether it is used for team building or as a meeting energiser. It brings people together and gives them a shared emotional experience.

What happens in a Haka session?

Your delegates take their seats and all seems normal.

The doors shut behind the last guests and the world music, which has been playing quietly as they enter, is increased in volume, signifying the start of the session.

Suddenly...silence. Then, our team of traditional Maori warriors storm into the room. Then, the roar of 'the call' – the loud and haunting tribal call of the lead tribesman – giving the team their cue to storm the stage. The team perform the Haka to the delight and surprise of your guests. We sometimes have senior managers pre-learn the Haka, to come out and surprise their colleagues!

The stunned audience gives a hearty applause. Within moments of our team finishing, we have everyone on their feet, and we take them on a whirlwind journey where they will learn and perform the Haka as one unified team. Your group will experience 100% Maori passion from our authentic Haka masters.

The Haka Masters first explain the enthralling story behind the Haka. There are fantastic analogies of change, leadership and, of course, tribal motivation. This is why learning the Haka as group is a perfect team building activity. Our Haka Masters wear the traditional dress called a puihui. Our Head Haka Master is a direct blood descendant from the tribe that wrote the Ka Mate Haka.

Once the traditional words are recanted by everyone – and yes there is much hilarity learning to say "Nana nei i tiki mai whakawhiti te ra!" - all the physical moves are then learnt.

Each action corresponds to a part of the story and, in the learning, there are hands, legs and wiggling fingers to perfect together as a group. This is obviously fun but highlights team intention and focus.

Occasionally, we split the group into different areas so that participants can perfect their performance and have traditional face markings applied.

Building towards a powerful finale performance, the group will go head-to-head in a bit of healthy tribal competition. Then the battle for tribal supremacy is on as we come together as one tribe for the ultimate Haka finale.

Wearing the face paint creates a psychological mask and, when each group returns to perform their Hakas to each other, the activity takes on a much deeper and more significant feeling. Without fail, the event leaves people totally charged and energised, and also with a deeper understanding of Maori culture.

Our Haka Masters see these events as a perfect vehicle to explain about Maori culture and, therefore, fulfil their personal tribal duty of further imparting this ancient knowledge.

What do I need in terms of time and space?

Whatever suits you. We pride ourselves in our flexibility, so we're happy to work within any constraints you have in terms of available space or time.

We can deliver Haka events in any space available: hotels, conference rooms, and even in your offices. We impose no restrictions on the type of room required, so any room will do.

As long as there is enough room to stand, there will be enough room for the event. In a perfect world, if we could get everyone away from tables and chairs to be in a clear part of the room, that would be even better. The more space there is, the more options we have to work with. For example, depending on time, we can split a group into two, with each sub-group working with their own Haka master to customise and perfect its performance. We bring sub-groups back together for a tribal face off, which is always great fun and can be the highlight of the event.

We have often delivered Haka events outside. As long as the weather is fine and you have a vocal PA for groups of over thirty participants, a Haka event works very well.

In terms of duration, we typically offer anything from a 30-minute energising Haka 'blast' to a deeper 90-minute Haka experience. In addition, the Haka can be integrated alongside one of our drumming or other tribal activities. For example, we often perform the Haka as a morning icebreaker with drumming used as a finale.

Where can I hold a Haka event?

Absolutely anywhere. In the UK, USA or worldwide.

How many people can be in a group?

No Haka workshop is too large or too small for us. We have substantial experience of running large Haka events, with up to 5,000 participants. Equally, we're happy to provide more intimate Haka workshops for five or more people.

Which occasions are best suited to Haka?

Haka is suited to a broad range of occasions, including:

- team building events
- team meetings
- conferences
- meeting and conference openings
- icebreakers
- corporate away-days

- conference and meeting energisers
- management and leadership training
- motivational events
- corporate parties
- product launches.

Meetings and conferences that have a strong message about unity, focus and overcoming challenges are particularly suited to the Haka.

The Haka is a fantastic morning icebreaker to kick off any meeting and get everyone geared up for the day ahead. Likewise, after lunch when the energy usually dips, the Haka is perfect to get your group back on track and recharged.

As a conference finale, the Haka is spectacular and uplifting, leaving delegates totally empowered as they leave.

Other information

Insist on your Haka masters being Maori. There is no substitute. For the full effect, it is essential to understand the language, the story, each tiny ritual, the traditional welcome and the traditional close. We are one of only two UK companies that have authentication from tribal elders in New Zealand, to promote the Haka in this way.

A technical requirement is one lapel mike. Also, if possible, we can project (from a laptop) the phonetic words of the Haka so that it is easier for participants to learn them.

If time permits, we have water-based ink face stencils that can be applied to willing group members. This is always a very special part of the event and totally changes the intention of our fledgling tribes!

There are no major noise considerations to concern a venue. Although everyone will be saying/shouting the words together, this is rarely a problem for nearby meetings.

With very large groups, it is important that everyone can see the Lead Haka Master to correctly learn body positions and hand signals. A stage to elevate the performers is, therefore, advantageous in large-event situations.

Testimonials

Please do not take our word for it, and read our testimonials for recent events.

"I have never seen a group of people transformed so dramatically."

Kerry Wright, BP Oil

"Your facilitators were very talented and held the attention of the 80+ people throughout. After the event, I solicited feedback about the whole day. One of the questions was "What could we do to improve this event next time?" One person replied, "I think you'll struggle to top Junk Funk to be honest". This was a good reflection of how the event went. In the 17 years I've worked here, I can't think of a time when an event has brought people together in a one-team way and dropped inhibitions so low."

Chris Starke, SAS Software

"As an event planner, I have arranged motivational speakers and team building activities, but nothing compares to this. We were all totally blown away."

Debbie McHarrie, Associate Event Planner

"I just wanted to say a big thank you to the team. The feedback has been fantastic. Everyone really enjoyed the activities. The great facilitator made the session lots of fun. The general consensus was that it was probably one of the best team building days we've had."

Sejal Patel, Deputy Head, NHS City and Hackney, Community Health Services

"Following our recent HR Conference, I'm delighted to let you know that we have received nothing but the most positive feedback on both your own facilitation of the session and the boomwhacker session itself....Your session was inspired and worked a treat to get us to realise what we can achieve when we all work together!"

Graeme Wilkinson, Senior Learning Manager, Lloyds Banking Group

"Uplifting and motivating. I thought the whole audience bought into the session."

Velux National Conference

"Astounding! Amazing! This beats everything we have ever done before. You made the day memorable. Thank you!"

Matthew Johns, PWC

"Wow! Over 800 people taken on a journey through a day's event to one 'tribal culture' with passion, energy, enthusiasm, hands-on coaching and above all tremendous fun. You provided HSBC West Midlands with a day to remember. In fact, to quote one of the team, "the best day I have ever had in over 20 years working for the bank."

Leon Marklew, Regional Director, HSBC

"Thank you for such an amazing experience. The team is still buzzing over the session and the feedback has been so very positive. The highlight for my day was seeing the negative body language from some of the team when you first came in translate into smiles and enthusiastic participation by the end! One comment was "to be able to walk into a team of hard-nosed sales people that you do not know and earn their total 'buy in' within two hours takes an awesome level of skill and talent.""

Mike Ryall, Managing Director, Parkside Recruitment Limited

"Your team was absolutely fantastic and the feedback has been brilliant. I know, when we talked, you really gave me a good idea of how it would be on the day, but, seriously, it was beyond my wildest dreams. You should be really proud of the work that you all do. Your team are an inspiration and have created memories that I believe will stay with my graduates and certainly with me for a long time."

Sue Coles, Graduate Recruitment & Development Manager

"What a great experience, which has had a fantastic impact on our teams in ways I didn't think possible!!!"

Nathalie, BNP Paribas

"The Haka was great! Now our finance department is ready to move forward and work as a team."

Lorraine Copeland, AXA-PPP

"Your session was a superb finale to the day, and I've had nothing but positive feedback about the event. Thanks for helping us to make it such a success."

Carol Chapman, Director, Balfour Beatty

"Everything about the boomwhacker session was excellent and the feedback very positive. To have 550 people all taking part was a feat in itself, which we didn't really expect. Facilitation was excellent. I cannot think of a single thing that could have been improved."

David Rist, MD of Hidden Hearing

"How immensely impressed I was with all your team. Your professional attitude, enthusiasm and your impact on the audience. Fantastic!"

Jennie Vaudin, Collas Day Solicitors

"I just wanted to let you know that the team building event you organised for us in Budapest was FANTASTIC. People are still talking about it now!! It was really good, and the way the session was led was really professional. The real underlying message about teamwork really got through to everyone as well."

Caroline Hayes, Shell Chemicals Europe

"Even after a packed day, delegates still went away buzzing following a rousing boomwhacker session. The session leader had everyone on their feet and getting into the rhythm with their own boomwhacker to become one giant percussion orchestra."

Liz Bayram, Chief Executive NCMA

"What a truly amazing way to start the day. Your team showed us what passion 'Maori-style' was all about! The conference felt lifted afterwards – and people still talk about it now!"

Fujiitsu

"Everyone cannot stop talking about the event, including how they laughed with people they have never met and how they really felt like they could view people differently and that we were all working towards one goal. Thanks for a great day."

Nina Mansell, Learning and Development Manager, Domestic & General

"Well what can I say? Brilliant and the whole team had an amazing time!!!! We look forward to using your services again in the near future."

Julie, Call Centre Manager, Warner Leisure Hotels

Director, Deutsche Bank

"One of the best events we have ever had. Outstanding!"

Ben O'Grady, Senior Manager, Dell

"We would like to say a huge thank you for making our conference such a memorable event."

Conference Team, Ministry of Defence

"You made my day yesterday. You were inspiring and lifted the energy levels to great heights at the end of a very heavy conference. The smiles on everyone's faces were real, not 'corporate'. It's the first time that I've seen those smiles. You were the hot topic when we had dinner later. Even my cab driver is a fan after hearing me rave about you. Thank you so much."

Dee Kahn, HSBC

"I thought it was an excellent workshop. The facilitators were friendly, knowledgeable and very good at engaging all the members of the team."

Paul Brindle, American Express

"I was confident that it was going to be an enjoyable experience for the delegates, and I was correct, as the feedback has been brilliant."

Fay Smith, IBR Limited

"We had a fantastic night. The Crashing Waiters were an absolutely resounding success!! Everyone thoroughly enjoyed being so involved in creating the entertainment and the three guys were fabulous. It's going to be hard to beat this success next year!"

Cathryn

"We had a smashing day and the drumming workshop was all you had promised. It got everyone involved, even the most reserved in our group. Your facilitators did a fantastic job and really raised the energy in the group."

Rosie, Yorkshire Primary Care Trust

"You managed to revitalise 270 dozing delegates after they had sat through a 'day of OHP' and completely transformed the atmosphere of the room from that of sombre silence to pulsating, rhythmic energy, which had every single person in the room engrossed and grinning from ear to ear."

Microsoft

"I just wanted to let you know how great the session was and how much we appreciated your enthusiasm and energy. The event was a huge success. The delegates loved having the drums to take away with them. It helped make it a very memorable event."

Michele, Serono, Boston, USA

"We all had a brilliant time and your team were fantastic and made this unusual event very easy to get into. I'll definitely be recommending you to anyone looking for a fun, energetic and team building experience."

Liz Purdy, Design and Engineering solutions, Atkins

"Your session was inspired and worked a treat to get us to realise what we can achieve when we all work together!"

Lloyds Banking Group

"It was great watching people's faces. Everyone was so involved and spellbound and....happy! It's such a great activity and you and your team were just brilliant."

Kati Pauk, KP Events

"I can wholeheartedly recommend you as a thoroughly professional and effective team, who addressed our brief with understanding and designed an exciting programme, which more than fulfilled our criteria."

Mike Grey, Business Development Manager, Microsoft

"We've never done drumming as a team before, but it was fun, entertaining, invigorating, and it was great to do something with a difference. Everyone in the group thoroughly enjoyed it, and expressed positive feedback of the whole session. It was a brilliant start to a great day, and well worth the experience."

Maria, Masquerade Productions

"We purposely kept our team building event a closely-guarded secret and the tension mounted as the conference wore on! I was able to see the end of the session and the atmosphere in the room was electrifying! Our Marketing Director came along early in order to take part and loved it. Our Sales and Marketing Director has said that he wants a drum for Christmas!! Without exception, all the team thoroughly enjoyed themselves and really felt the benefits of the workshop."
